Financial World Discounts Death of Magnate and Harriman Stocks Advance.

CANCER CAUSED DEMISE

Funeral at Arden Tomorrow Morning With Interment in Private Cemetery.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Two beliefs concerning the death of Edward H. Harriman came to be accepted as facts today—first, that his great railroad organization will not be disturbed, second, that he was a victim of cancer.

That the financial world had thoroughly discounted the great man's death and dissipated all fear of a panic was attested by one of the most remarkable scenes in the history of the New York stock exchange. There, instead of a downward movement of stocks, a sensational and spectacular advance occurred, while in London and Berlin railroad and industrial stocks showed unusual strength. In all quarters Harriman stocks were strong and those who "went short" on the theory that heavy declines would follow Mr Harriman's death, suffered large losses

The Kuhn, Loeb National City bank interests will continue to act as the chief financial agents of the Harriman lines, but just who will assume the head of his vast affairs is a matter of speculation. It is generally understood that Jacob H Schiff and Judge R. S. Lovett will divide between them the running of the complex organization built by Mr. Harriman, while others whose shoulders will bear part of the burden are Julius C. Kruttschnit, vice president of the Southern Pacific road and director of maintenance and operation of the Harriman lines; Frederick D. Underwood, president of the Erie; John C. Stubbs, traffic manager of the Harriman lines; L F Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson; Wm. F. Herrin, of San Francisco, and Wm. Hood, chief engineer of the Southern Pacific.

Tributes to Mr. Harriman were expressed by men of note all over the world today. The flag of the New York stock exchange was at half mast as were those on most of the large banking institutions The Harriman offices in the city will remain closed until Monday. On that day a meeting of the board of directors of the Union and Southern Pacific railroads probably will be held.

Dr. Lyle Noncommital.

Dr Lyle said tonight that no statement has or will be made as to the nature of Mr. Harriman's disease.

"The nature of Mr. Harriman's disease," he said, "does not concern the public, and so far as I am concerned it never will be reported. Too much has been said on that subject. Now the family wishes only to be left undisturbed in its bereavement.

"Mr. Harriman did not know from what malady he was suffering. At the time of his illness he read in the newspapers various so-called professional comments, made by persons wholly ignorant of the case, who lacked the good taste to keep their opinions to themselves.

"The disease was clearly enough defined for correct diagnosis and of that the family was informed, except the younger children There was no occasion to satisfy any one else, and no one else will know by authentic statement Knowledge of the cause eliminated any reason for an autopsy and the certificate of death will not be open to public inspection Those most closely concerned hope that the subject will be dropped."

Commenting on the statement attributed to Dr Adolph Struempel, the Vienna specialist that he had diagnosed the case in July as carcinoma or cancer of the stomach and having so advised Mr Harriman's American physicians, Dr Lyle said he had no knowledge that Dr Struempel had made such a statement, and did not believe it

GLOUCESTER, Mass Sept 10.—The schooner Joe R Bradley, on which Dr Frederick A Cook made his trip to the Arctic, carried more than $20,000 worth of supplies, including pemmican and wood brought from the west and especially suitable for sledges

This statement was made today by Benjamin A Smith, who outfitted the vessel Mr Smith said that Captain Bartlett remarked that it looked like a long trip to the Arctic with perhaps a dash to the pole, in his belief

He recalled also that great secrecy was maintained in the outfitting.

With a view to establishing a first class nonsectarian boarding school for boys in this city under the auspices of the Episcopal church, the greater part of a guarantee fund of $6,000 has been raised, and a working fund of $5,000 is being subscribed. A board of trustees has been elected to prepare for the opening of the school in September, 1910, and "Las Pampas," the Austin Bluffs residence of Dean W C Sturgis of the Forestry School of Colorado College, will probably be rented for a year as a temporary location for the new school

NEWSPAPERS IN COURT OVER PEARY'S STORY

Rival New York Sheets Print Copyrighted Article Court Sustains Them.

NEW YORK, Sept. 10.—Judge Hand, in the United States circuit court, settled a novel legal controversy today bearing on Commander Peary's discovery of the North pole, in favor of the New York Sun and the New York World, defendants in proceedings brought by the New York Times

Yesterday the Times obtained a temporary injunction, restraining the Sun and World from printing any of Peary's cabled story on his discovery, which he agreed to furnish exclusively to the Times, but the court held today that the Times' copyright was not legally hole-proof and dissolved the restraining order

The Sun and World on Thursday obtained, by way of London, where it appeared in the London Times by agreement with the New York Times, a verbatim account of Peary's brief resume of his discovery, and printed it here Immediately the Times took legal steps to stop this

A copy of Peary's contract submitted to the court set forth that the explorer received $4,000 from the Times to be considered as a loan which is to be repaid out of proceeds of the Times' syndicate accounts of his discovery Failing to reach the pole, he was to refund the full amount

CANAL PROGRESS RAPID

Four Sections of Big Ditch Across Isthmus of Panama Completed.

WASHINGTON Sept 10 "Good progress is being made on the Panama canal, and four sections of it have been finished" said Colonel Goethals chief engineer in charge of the construction of the canal upon his arrival here tonight from the isthmus

The canal must be finished some time and the excavations will fall off from time to time as each part is finished" he said when asked to what he attributed the decrease in the average excavations in August compared with those of the preceding month

"If the work for October alone were figured out it would be found we are doing more there at present than at any previous time."

WORK ON ROAD MAY START WEDNESDAY

FIFTY CONVICTS FOR NEW STATE HIGHWAY.

The County Commissioners of El Paso and Fremont Hold Conference.

Actual construction work on the new state highway between Colorado Springs and Canon City, will start next Wednesday, when 50 convicts now working at Trinidad, together with complete equipment, will be transferred to the new road, according to present plans.

The county commissioners yesterday held a conference with the chairman of the board of county commissioners of Fremont county, the county surveyor of that county, and Mr Johnson of the state engineer's office, in regard to the road.

County Surveyor W P Woodside went to Dead Mans canon in company with the visiting officials during the afternoon, for the purpose of selecting a suitable site for a camp for the workmen The first work will be done at Dead Mans canon, because that is the point where the work will be of the hardest character, and communication must first be established there in order to work to the best advantage subsequently at other points.

Those interested in the promotion of the work await the action of the Good Roads committee, which has charge of the matter of securing rights of way. It is thought that every farmer and property owner along the route will be glad to give not only the right of way, but extend practical assistance in the work. The committee is interviewing property owners between Broadmoor and Giles' ranch.

The new road will not only be valuable from a practical view-point, but will be one of the most attractive scenic roads in the state. It is thought that it will cost, on an average, $2,000 per mile.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Sept. 10.—Commander Robert E Peary is expected to sail from Battle Harbor, Labrador, where he put in last Wednesday, for North Sydney, C. B., tomorrow. The Roosevelt was at Battle Harbor late today. Mariners acquainted with the Roosevelt do not look for her appearance at the Cape Breton port before next Monday or Tuesday. Unless it is necessary to put in at Blanc Sablon for a fresh coal supply, Peary will probably not stop at any port until he reaches North Sydney.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 10. — Dr. Frederick A. Cook left Copenhagen this afternoon on the first stage of his journey homeward, apparently happy and confident, and with the cheers of a great crowd ringing in his ears. Formal farewells were exchanged between Dr. Cook and committees of the Geographical society and the University of Copenhagen. As he left, the explorer stood alone on the high bridge of the yacht Melchior, which is taking him to Christiansand, raising his hat in response to shouts of the spectators.

The yacht will arrive at Christiansand tomorrow noon, where Dr. Cook will board the steamship Oscar II for the United States. Managing Director Cold of the Scandinavian-American Steamship company, accompanied Dr. Cook. He said the Oscar II would reach New York Tuesday, September 21.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN, Yale Specialist.

EATING SLOWLY.

Cereals and vegetables should be eaten very slowly. Vitality is wasted by hurried eating. But the benefit from thorough mastication is not so much in the conversion of starch to sugar in the mouth and in avoiding the work of reducing food in stomach and intestines as in the effect upon the nervous system. The relation between food and thought is intimate, retroactive. Hurry is worry, poise is a condition of health. Measured eating balances the nerve supply and that means, other things equal, health. Measured eating is a natural sedative to be taken with each meal.

NARROWLY ESCAPE IN FREIGHT WRECK

THREE FACE DEATH UNDER MANITOU C. M. TRESTLE.

Five Loaded Cars Topple From Bridge, Destroy Studio and Cause Other Damage.

Three Manitou residents, two women and one man, narrowly escaped death; $5,000 damage was sustained by the Colorado Midland railroad, and 150 feet of track and roadbed of the Manitou Electric railway was torn up at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when five heavily-loaded Midland ore cars from Cripple Creek left the track at the high Midland trestle just below the Iron Springs pavilion at Manitou, and crashed to the ground, 75 feet below. Several hundred feet of wire belonging to the Hydro-Electric company was put out of commission, temporarily interfering with the lighting of that section of the town.

One of the cars dropped onto the photographic studio of G B. Merrick, directly under the trestle, almost completely destroying the studio. Merrick ran out of the rear door just before the heavy car crashed through the roof. But Misses Beatrice Martin and Marion Reed, the other occupants of the place, did not have time to escape before the crash. They were fortunately in a corner of the studio, and were uninjured, except for a severe nervous shock. The young ladies were penned in, however, by the debris, and were extricated with difficulty by the wrecking crew from Colorado City, in charge of Jack Ward.

The freight train of 20 cars, in charge of Engineer Sutton and Conductor Edell, is said to have been running at a high rate of speed down the steep grade, and the fact that an unusually heavy engine was used is also thought to have aided in spreading the rails. The engine kept on the track, but the tender was derailed, and the first five cars, breaking from the remainder of the train, toppled over. Two fell into the road below and two went into the creek, while the fifth fell into the photograph studio. The engine went ahead for about 85 feet, dragging the tender behind it bumping and smashing along the ties.

The heavy iron girders of the bridge were broken and bent, and about one-half mile of wire of the Electric com-

TWO OF COLORADO'S CREW SACRIFICE TO SPEED

A Steam Pipe Bursts Under Forced Draught, Fatally Injuring Seamen.

WEAKNESSES DISCLOSED

Flagship of Pacific Fleet Breaks All Records Between Frisco and Honolulu.

HONOLULU, Sept 10.—The Pacific fleet, comprising eight of the fastest cruisers in the American navy, which left San Francisco last Sunday afternoon under Rear Admiral Uriel Sebree for a five months' cruise in oriental waters, arrived here at 11 o'clock this morning with the exception of the Colorado and West Virginia, which were delayed by accidents to their machinery

In the effort to establish the shortest time in which the fleet could cross the Pacific and test the speed and steaming capacity of the cruisers the Tennessee, Admiral Sebree's flagship, broke all records by making the trip from San Francisco to Honolulu in four days and 17 hours

In a burst of speed on Wednesday, a steam pipe burst aboard the Colorado, scalding to death two men in the coal bunkers The dead are

C P M DERMOTT, coal passer

The Colorado and West Virginia could not keep up with the 18-knot pace set by the flagship soon after passing through the Golden Gate.

Steaming under forced draught part of the time, weak points in the machinery of the two cruisers soon developed Leaky tubes in three boilers greatly reduced the speed of the Colorado before the accident occurred on that vessel

The breaking of the piston ring on the port high pressure cylinder made it necessary for the West Virginia to fall out and stop for repairs The cruiser then made a splendid spurt, cutting through the water at 19½ knots for 24 hours, and succeeded in catching up with the rest of the fleet. The work of feeding the furnaces to keep steam in the boilers at a pressure that made this speed possible proved too much for the crew however and the cruiser was compelled to drop behind

At 10 o'clock this morning the West Virginia was 30 miles behind the rest of the fleet and the Colorado was 50 miles off port

Next week the fleet will steam to Maui island for a full speed test of four hours

NEWPORT R I Sept 10.—A demonstration of the efficiency of the naval submarines was completed today when the first submarine flotilla composed of the Viper Cuttlefish Tarantula and Octopus with the parent ship Castine, returned to this port after two weeks' practice at Narragansett bay The practice was divided into two parts speed tests and the firing of torpedoes while entirely submerged and when partially submerged The Cuttlefish commanded by Ensign Smith was awarded the pennant

A COLORADO SPRINGS GIRL IN THE ORIENT. The second of a series of entertaining travel letters by Mabel Alberta Spicer. Miss Spicer has made two trips around the world, which probably is a better globe-trotting record than can be shown by anybody else in this city. She spent two years in the Far East, mostly in the Philippines, and in these letters her experiences and observations are told in a bright, chatty style that makes them peculiarly interesting.

THE FORTUNES OF NIGEL Scott's fascinating romance is the subject of tomorrow's One-Page Classic.

PLAYING FOR IMPERIAL STAKES. This is the first of a new series of letters on the Manchurian question, by Frederic J. Haskin, The Gazette's special correspondent.

The burial service will take place at St John's at 3 o'clock The interment will follow in the Harriman private burial ground a stone's throw southeast of the church Music will be furnished at the main service by the choir of Grace church New York

Judging by preparations being made throughout the neighborhood it is evident that half the population of the nearby villages will attend the public service Carriages are already being held at exorbitant rates for use on Sunday

Seventy men toiled on the Arden hillside in the pouring rain all today preparing for the funeral of their late employer Six were blasting a grave from the solid rock of the private graveyard near St John's church the others were smoothing the three miles of road over which the body will be carried to its resting place. All afternoon the stillness of the green hillside was broken by the noise of explosions

Until the death certificate is filed with E P Fitch town clerk at Highland Mills, there is no way of ascertaining the verdict of Mr Harriman's physician Dr W G Lyle.

"I never heard cancer mentioned by any member of the family," said the clergyman "I do not know whether Dr Struempel acquainted Mr Harriman with his diagnosis of cancer"

Dr McGuiness insisted that up to the day before Mr Harriman died his most intimate friends believed he might get well

Judge Robert S Lovett considered Mr Harriman's chief business and legal adviser, explained today his policy of silence which baffled all seekers after confirmation of Mr Harriman's condition He said

"Mr Harriman's life was so interwoven with Wall Street and financial affairs that any change in his condition would have affected the financial world I thought it advisable not to run the danger of misrepresentation and so said nothing about his condition. Any statement one way or the other would have been misunderstood."

Southern Part of Republic Scene of New Inundation and More Are Lost?ed.

MEXICO CITY, Sept 10—The flood situation in the northern part of the republic is still serious, in spite of the fact that the flood sufferers in the state of Tamaulipas are receiving their first relief

News of a number of marooned Americans reached here today. The Presbyterian mission school at San Juan has been cut off since the flood A party under the leadership of W A Ross will go to the rescue Pupils and teachers are reported to be safe although suffering from want of food

A party of Americans, consisting of J E. Goddard and his mother, Stuart Ryan of Oklahoma and Hugh Cockerell, reached Linares last night after a six day trip in an ox cart from the Santa Ana ranch, where they had been staying The ranch was completely inundated. The Americans took refuge on a hill, escaping with little more than their clothes. The party was without food or shelter for three days

An expert horticulturist and specialist in orange culture from Los Angeles, lost his life in the flood. It has been impossible to ascertain his name.

Another Flood

Another terrible flood has visited the Jemiltepec district, in the state of Oaxaca. Sugar plantations and mills have been destroyed, hundreds of head of cattle have been killed, and scores of laborers have lost their lives in the waters.

The scene of this latest inundation is in the southern part of the republic, many miles from Monterey and Tamaulipas.

The Atoyac river overflowed its banks and swept miles of a rich country with devastating force. The Jemiltepec district is one of the richest on the Pacific coast, and it is said that 100,000 persons will suffer from this most recent flood, owing to the great area of land laid waste The initial overflow of the Atoyac river was caused by a cloudburst.

Saloonman Says Chicago Police Officer Took Bribes for Protecting Vice.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10—Payment of bribe money to Edward McCann, when he was inspector of police at the Desplaines street station, for the protection of illegal establishments, was testified to today in McCann's trial by Louis Frank, a member of the saloon firm of Frank Brothers and one of the principal witnesses for the state.

Frank testified that he first met McCann in the inspector's office in March, 1908, through Police Sergeant Charles Hawkins and that later the inspector sent for him. He said the inspector asked him to collect money which proprietors of illegal establishments would bring to him.

"They were to pay me $20 from each house," said Frank.

"Did you ever pay McCann this graft money elsewhere than at the station?"

"Yes, at his home I went with Max Plummer Some woman was arrested charged with pandering I went to the inspector's room and told him that Plummer wanted him to fix it up so the woman was not to be sent to prison McCann told me it would cost $300 if he did. I went out and told Plummer what the inspector said and Plummer said he could pay only $250 I went and told McCann. He agreed and I got the money from Plummer."

chior was drawn up there was a pleasant ceremony in the cabin which was attended by Maurice F. Egan, American minister, the rector of the University of Copenhagen and a number of geographers. Admiral Dekichelieu thanked Dr. Cook for returning to the United States under the Danish flag.

"Green with envy and jealousy," the admiral said, "are doing their envenomed work, but we in Denmark believe in you absolutely."

Welcomes Comparison.

Speaking to a correspondent Dr. Cook said:

"I am perfectly willing to put my records before the American Coast and

COMMANDER ROBERT E. PEARY, In His Full Arctic Uniform Ready for the Dash to the Pole

Geodetic survey to be compared with those of Commander Peary, but I do not see why I should ask for such a comparison first."

Asked if he had any message for the public, Dr Cook replied

"Don't you think that would be rather presumptuous? All I want is to get home to my wife and children and to finish my work"

SYDNEY N S, Sept 10—Herbert L Bridgman who is here to meet Peary today arranged for the Roosevelt to take part in the Hudson-Fulton naval parade

He wired the exposition management asking for a position and received the following reply

"Hudson Fulton celebration commission proud to have Peary Arctic club's steamer with North pole in naval parade Hearty congratulations F. H. Hall, assistant secretary"

The probability is, Mr Bridgman says that the Roosevelt easily will reach New York in time to participate in the festivities

Questioned concerning the report that the yacht John R Bradley, which conveyed Dr Cook to Greenland would be in the parade, Mr Bridgman said it has been sold but of course it could be entered by its new owners He declared however that if the Cook yacht was given a place in the parade, the Roosevelt certainly would not participate

DISCOLORED TEETH

ARE YOUR TEETH MOTTLED OR DISCOLORED WITH BROWN STAINS?

This brown stain that disfigures the teeth of so many, especially the permanent teeth of children and which was the subject of recent investigation in examination of the teeth of the pupils of the public schools, is considered by the majority of the dental profession to be indelible, or that it cannot be removed without injuring or destroying the tooth structure. You may have been told by some dentist in whom you no doubt have confidence, that this stain cannot be removed. Regardless of these claims we are successfully treating this condition. We have removed this stain from more than one hundred cases in the past two years. We have spent a great deal of time and study in perfecting this treatment and are in a position to state positively that we do entirely and permanently remove this stain and can furnish you with a large number of references. If you have been advised that this stain cannot be removed and are sceptical of our claims, we will treat one or more of your teeth sufficiently to demonstrate what we are able to do, and if it is not entirely satisfactory you are under no obligation to continue the treatment. We are making special prices on this work for the month of September.

Fall Opening of J. S. Appel's Fashion Store Attracts Throng of Interested Visitors.

With a bewildering display of the latest modes and fabrics, the Colorado Springs store of the J. S. Appel Suit and Cloak company made its fall bow to the public last evening. The newest European and eastern ideas in feminine apparel, as selected by J. S. Appel in his recent trip to New York and abroad, vied with each other in appeal to the eyes of fashionable Colorado Springs ladies who thronged the store in its fall opening. It is estimated that 1,500 visitors attended.

Autumn leaves and palms formed the attractive decorations of the various departments, while a concealed orchestra added to the life of the opening. The Appel store's large force of salesladies, gowned becomingly in the season's latest styles, was busy throughout the hours of the opening in displaying the multitude of gowns and cloaks to the interested throng of prospective shoppers. Each guest, on leaving, was presented with a charming souvenir picture, frame in rich oak.

News of Local Courts

Louis Main was yesterday morning fined $10 and costs in police court for trespass. He was charged with prowling around back yards at night. He preferred to work out his fine at the rate of $2 a day, though he is said to have money in the bank. When he arrived here he had 36 eggs stored in various pockets, which the hen had laid en route.

Joseph Whitehead, Charles Trout and Roy Mason, charged with an assault to rob, were yesterday found not guilty by a jury in the district court.

Frank Whitsell, colored, was tried for larceny in the district court yesterday, and the case went to the jury at noon. At a late hour last night the jury had not reached a decision.

ENORMOUS MINE OF PURCHASING POWER

SO HASKIN DESCRIBES CHINA AS A MARKET.

Hong Kong Trade Gate to Field in Which Yankee Enterprise Is Backward.

XXI—THE TRADE GATE OF HONG KONG.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

HONG KONG, Aug. 12.—Throughout a considerable part of China the natives are abandoning home-made oiled paper umbrellas for imported cloth ones. An oiled paper umbrella may be purchased for the equivalent of from six to ten cents in American money. It is remarkably durable. It is much more impervious to rain than a dollar cloth umbrella. To the eye of the foreigner, every Chinese umbrella, however cheaply made, is pretty, while there is nothing uglier than the plain black article used in the western hemisphere. The "foreign devil" driving a trade with China finds a market for umbrellas because he has convinced the Chinese that the imported article is desirable because of its handsome appearance. The invasion of the black cloth umbrella in China shows how readily the unnumbered millions of "consumers" in this vast country turn to the foreign purveyor.

Hong Kong is the great distributing center for foreign goods seeking a market in South China. British and German commercial houses predominate in the city of Victoria, which the world calls Hong Kong, just as if had never been christened in honor of British royalty when the island became a crown colony. The Japanese are making every effort to carry a fair proportion of the sea-borne freight to oriental ports in Japanese bottoms, and plan to get a good footing upon land wherever this may be done. The United States must awaken to the golden opportunities of the American manufacturer in Asia or see a commercial Klondyke exploited by other nations as the opening of new channels of trade in China progresses. Which course will be taken? Upon the answer depends the question of whether "Yankee shrewdness" will continue to be a descriptive term in this part of the world.

Demand for Everything.

Just now there is passing through Hong Kong, for interior points in China, a large amount of various commodities, running from ginseng to structural steel. In general terms both Europeans and Chinese are buying building materials, firearms, ammunition, explosives, engines of various types, tools, machinery, electrical supplies, and all articles having to do with the introduction of European ideas of development in China. The natives are all but clamoring for all sorts of cheap toilet articles, cutlery, cotton and wool goods, canned goods, watches and clocks, flour, oil and other commodities of which the United States is a large producer.

One finds in Hong Kong, more or less, "trade literature" bearing upon the excellence of American-made goods, but the power of printers' ink—as great as it undeniably is in influencing results in any commercial campaign—cannot suffice to meet, unaided, the competition of an organized force upon the ground, coupled with large commercial fleets on the sea. As to how the United States should set about building a merchant marine, economists honestly differ. That the absence of the stars and stripes from ocean highways is prejudicial to the development of a large trade with other countries is indisputable. So long as the nonexistence of American merchantmen continues to handicap American manufacturers and exporters, the further handicap of nonrepresentation among the large trading houses in distant countries operates as a bar to the capture of the proportion of trade merited by the quality of American products.

Opportunity Great.

The success met with by American flour and oil in China indicates the opportunities open to—but not waiting indefinitely for—American enterprise. But the fight, to record success, must be made against odds sufficiently great to stir fighting blood. The German and English houses controlling most of the business in Hong Kong, and into China, are connected with, or owned by, "home" interests. Such houses are glad to represent American "lines" merely to prevent, if possible, the establishment of commission houses devoted to the exclusive representation of American manufacturers. The result is the misrepresentation of American goods in this market, and stagnation for our trade. There is one American bank in Hong Kong. It transacts business with Yankee celerity which is beyond the capabilities, and the comprehension, of both British and German bankers, but there are several large banks, long established, actively interested in promoting German and English business, and a virtual partnership exists between European commercial and financial institutions of the same nationality.

With the exception of the Canadian Pacific and Pacific Mail and allied lines, and a Japanese line, all steamships entering Hong Kong harbor are controlled by the two nations dominant in commerce here. As railroad freight rates in the United States tend toward a gravitation of a considerable portion of western freight to Atlantic ports, the absolute control of the Atlantic shipping by foreign steamships is a disadvantage to American firms. Add to this the fact that the British and German firms here have American offices which look not only to the sale of Chinese goods in the United States, but also keep an eye peeled upon prices and products in America with a view to heading off competition. While the British and German firms are keeping tab upon American affairs the large Hong Kong banks, their directorates composed of the heads of leading British or German commercial houses, force any American seeking their services, to lay the details of his enterprise before them. In other words, he is compelled to hand his business secrets over to his business rivals. Naturally an American turns to his own bank, but the other half dozen are close corporations for the promotion of British and German trade.

Few American Ships.

About 23,000 vessels of more than 50 tons enter Hong Kong harbor each year. More than half of these are Chinese junks, corresponding to the schooners that carry coastwise commerce in American waters. British steamers number more than 5,000, Germans nearly 1,000, Japanese and French about 500 each, Chinese between 300 and 400. Norway sends about 300 vessels to Hong Kong and Portugal about 200. America sends less than 50. There are a hundred or more export and import houses in Hong Kong. Seventy-five are divided equally between English, German and Dutch. Portugese, Spanish, Parsees, Italians and others fill up the rest of the list. The United States boasts two.

There is no prospect for a large increase in American trade with South China while American manufacturers are represented in Hong Kong by agents whose interest lies in promoting the sale of the products of our rivals in trade. There is always inattention at one end of the line or the other when an order is placed with a firm thus represented. If, by any chance, there is genuine activity here, the lack of it at home, where no great amount of consideration is given to an agency remotely situated and discouraging in the dimensions of the business done, makes the deal a failure and a bad advertisement. There is no one here to investigate the market to find and to develop opportunities where the other nations are finding and developing them. There exists, in the minds of American manufacturers who have not been upon the ground, the erroneous idea that the purchasers in China are not particular as to what they buy. The man on the ground knows that while they may be converted to the theory that a dollar umbrella made of cloth that leaks is superior to a dozen 10-cent umbrellas that do keep out the rain, the Chinese insist upon getting just what they order. And the Briton and German stay with the market to insist that they alone may be depended upon to "deliver the goods" according to contract. Unfortunately for American interests, when an order placed with an agent who does not particularly care whether he sells American goods, or filled by an employe who is under the impression that anything will do for China, full advantage of the mistake is taken. The report that Americans are unreliable is vigorously circulated where there are few Americans here to deny it.

Counted the Matches.

A story current among the traveling representatives of European houses is that a Chinese merchant placed with the agent of an American match factory an order for a large quantity of matches in boxes of 500. When the matches arrived the merchant opened a box and counted the number of matches it contained. There were 495. The sagacious Chinese suspended business while he had his clerks open each box and count the contents. Some of the boxes contained more than 500 matches, and some of them less than that number. The grand total, figured out in Chinese characters that covered many sheets of paper and employed the time of several accountants, was a few hundred matches less than the number that should have been delivered in fulfillment of a promise to send out a certain number of gross of boxes. The results compensated the Chinese wholesaler for the expense of the investigation. He has since been a vigorous muck raker who advises everyone not to patronize the agents of American firms.

China is an enormous mine of purchasing power out of which the nations of the west will dig more gold within the next century than has ever come out of shafts driven into the earth or the shifting sands of gold-bearing streams washed by placer miners. Railroad development, now embryonic but alive, will open markets now inaccessible, and the increase from the present volume of trade will be by leaps and bounds. The question asked by friends of America in the east is whether Americans are going to awaken with the commercial "awakening" of China.

Tomorrow—The Manchurian Question.

be conducted along the line of church schools like Groton, St. Mark's, St. George's, etc.

The Rev. Gibson Bell, a master in St. Paul's school, Concord, Mass., who reported favorably on the chances for such a school in Colorado Springs, has been tendered the position of head master and is considering the offer. Mr. Bell was asked to come to this city to report on the prospects for a new school by the preliminary committee. He is a graduate of Harvard and of the Cambridge Episcopal Theological school. He has been at St. Paul's school for the last five years.

For several years, plans for a new boys' school in Colorado Springs have been considered. The plan originated with Dean Sturgis. The need of a good boarding school here has been felt by prominent citizens for some time, and the beautiful surroundings, unexcelled climate and splendid environment in Colorado Springs make this city an ideal place for the location of a boys' school. Through the work of Dr. W. F. Slocum at Colorado College, Colorado Springs has gained a reputation as an educational center.

In the meantime, the wires of the Electric company lie beneath the wreckage, so that the town will be in partial darkness until the cars are removed.

Traffic on the street car line of the Manitou Electric railway will also be delayed until the car which fell straight across its tracks is removed. A street car passed under the trestle only a minute or two before the wreck.

MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION FOR STREET PAVING.

AT A meeting Thursday night the Merchants Association appointed a committee of two to help along the street paving campaign. Mr. O E Hemenway, president of the Association, showed several photographs of scenes on Tejon Street during the recent heavy rains, revealing a condition which ought to convince everybody who saw them that no real relief from this nuisance is to be had until the streets are paved

This committee can make itself useful if it is willing to get out and hustle. And make no mistake hustle, and plenty of it, is the indispensable condition to getting the streets paved. A few of the owners of property in the business district recognize the necessity of paving and are ready to pay their share of the cost. A few others are indifferent, and there are still others who deny the need of paving but with an air which plainly says that the denial is based on their unwillingness to pay their share. An active, hustling campaign of education must be carried on not only to convince all of the property-owners that paving is necessary, but to secure their signatures to a paving petition—that is, an agreement to form a paving district and pay their proportionate shares of the cost.

CONCERTED EFFORT IS NECESSARY.

This work should enlist the interest of every resident of Colorado Springs and the active cooperation of every civic organization and other body concerned in the cause of good roads. The Chamber of Commerce, the Real Estate Exchange, and the Good Roads Association should not lag behind the Merchants Association. Let each of them appoint a committee of three members, all of them to form a citizens paving committee. Then let this committee make a thorough canvass of the property-owners to obtain the signatures of owners of a majority of the property in the proposed paving district. The effort should not cease until success is attained

And let us not forget a very important aspect of the matter, namely, that the question which must be settled first is not what particular brand or kind of paving material to use, but whether we are to pave the streets at all. Don't confuse the two questions. After it has been settled that the streets are to be paved, and the necessary signatures have been obtained, there will be plenty of time to investigate the different paving materials and decide, on expert advice, which of them is best suited to the needs of Colorado Springs.

Two years ago a promising effort to get a paving district created failed, mainly because this point was overlooked. The agent of a paving company came here and mixed things up so that the issue became whether or not we were to use that man's brand of paving, instead of whether or not we were to pave the streets at all. Therefore, let us keep the paving agents in the background this time until we have settled the first and more important question.

THE POLAR RIVALS.

IT SEEMS to us that Bacon and Shakespeare are to be congratulated on the relief from a tedious controversy which the Cook-Peary feud has given them. The letter in today's Open Parliament, sent to The Gazette through the mail, presumably from the spirit world, suggests this much.

There are certain matters concerning which people never have been able to agree. For instance, the real age of Ann and the chicken's actual reason for crossing the road, are still matters of controversy. Neither has anybody ever found out who struck Billy Patterson or what became of Charlie Ross. Until the end of time some people will swear that Sampson won the Battle of Santiago, and others will contend that Schley did it, but nobody will ever really know. The most famous of all controversies, the authorship of Shakespeare's plays, is as far from solution as ever even farther, since Mark Twain took a hand in it. That the objects of this dispute are weary of it and welcome another controversy which will divert attention from them and permit them to enjoy the peace and quiet of their abode beyond the Styx is so natural that their letter in the Open Parliament is almost superfluous

But seriously it is hard to understand why anybody should get red in the face over the Cook-Peary controversy in its present stage It is quite possible, even probable, that both men reached the Pole.

To Cook's credit it must be said that a number of eminent scientists and explorers whose integrity is unquestioned and whose judgment has always been considered good fully credit his statements Among these is Captain Sverdrup, who was in command of Nansen's ship in his "Farthest North" expedition and who later headed an expedition of his own in quest of the Pole Another supporter of Cook's claims is Captain Amundsen who two years ago successfully effected the Northwest Passage around the American continent for the first time in history. It is significant, too that Dr Cook's most adherents are the Danish government officials and scientists who have questioned him closely.

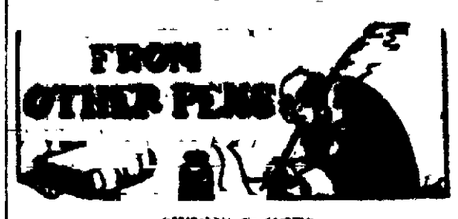

What this evidence in Cook's favor is the majority of people who seek to disparage him, claiming that his record as an explorer is discreditable. Most of these are men who accompanied him on the expedition to Mount McKinley, and who declare that he did not reach the summit of that peak, presumably because he could not have made the ascent in the time he was absent from them

PEARY'S MANY ASSAULT.

So far as Peary is concerned, it may as well be admitted that his hasty and severe assaults on Cook leave a bad taste in the mouth Absolutely nobody will dispute Peary's claim to having reached the pole for his reputation as an explorer and a man of honor puts him above suspicion But this does not justify him in assailing the character and claims of a rival, especially before he has got back to civilization and learned what evidence that rival has to support his claims. Peary would stand much higher in public esteem today if he had maintained a discreet silence.

One other point against Cook remains to be noticed. This is his delay in submitting his diary, scientific observations and other data to the inspection of scientific bodies When it was announced that he was to address the Geographical Society in Copenhagen the expectation was justified that he would then produce a part at least of his proofs, but he did nothing of the sort. Doubtless he has some good reason for his failure so to do but at any rate the delay serves to intensify suspicion, especially since Peary has returned to complicate the situation by his conflicting claims

As the matter stands now it appears that the only fair and sensible thing is to withhold judgment. Perhaps when competent scientific bodies have passed upon the evidence submitted by both explorers it will be possible to say who really first reached the Pole And again, perhaps the question never will be settled, in which event we shall have another important addition to the list of unsolved mysteries.

SWEET SCENTS.

From the Columbus Ohio State Journal.

An English chemist says that half a million dollars may be made by any one who creates a new perfume, and we would give that amount if we had it to any one who would eliminate some of the old ones.

THINK IT OVER.

From Collier's.

Here is a story that will be of interest to the humanitarian. We are inclined to think it contains a considerable amount of truth:

"I was discharged from San Quentin six weeks ago. I was given a new suit of clothes (that was branded 'prison' all over, but no matter about this.) I was given clothes to cover me, $5 in cash, and the good wishes of the warden and the man who drives the van. Very good, you say, for an ex-convict? Well, listen to this. On the day I was given my freedom, my picture, with my description, was sent to every sheriff of every county in the state 'This man is free may be coming your way Look out for him.' Now, there is nothing dangerous about me, or, at least, there never was. I was a street car conductor, a decent enough sort, when one night I got drunk and hit a man. Unfortunately for both of us, it nearly killed him. I got four years. I paid the penalty. Should I be let alone or not? I gave more than four years out of my life to the state. I lost my health. For that reason I thought that, being 'free,' I would go out into the country and work there until I got my strength back. From county to county I've been told to 'move on.' The first man to whom I applied for work gave it to me; then I took my honorable discharge out of my pocket and showed it to him. He picked up a cane that lay across his desk and yelled at me: 'You get out of here or I'll knock your brain out.'"

It is needless to draw any facile moral from this condition. The facts are intricate. The difficulties are many. A bitter situation faces the prisoner who wishes to lead an honorable life after his discharge. A delicate situation faces the man who would employ him. The employer knows the rule; it requires some sacrifice to principle and humanity on his part to test the particular case in order to avoid helping to crush a man who may be one of the exceptions. Sentimentalism in the treatment of crime is not to be encouraged, but injustice is still worse.

DOCTOR JOHNSON BICENTENARY.

From the Chicago Tribune.

This month the ancient city of Lichfield, in England, is to celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of its most distinguished son, Dr. Samuel Johnson, compiler of the immortal "dixonary," a presentation copy of which, it will be remembered, Miss Sharp ungratefully threw out of the carriage window on the occasion of her leaving the justly famed educational institution of the Misses Pinkerton. But Lichfield cannot confine the celebration of his birthday to its municipal limits, for the whole English-speaking world will insist on recognizing the anniversary and taking some part in its celebration; yes, even Americans, whose insurgent ancestors he pronounced worthy to be hanged, will on that occasion take notice of the natal day of a man who stamped his individuality and influence upon the mother tongue.

Johnson presents an unique figure as that of a notable force in literature, yet one whose works the average man knows little about. We quote glibly "Let observation with extensive view survey mankind from China to Peru," or "Superfluous lags the veteran of the stage," or "To point a moral or adorn a tale," but how many of us have read "The Vanity of Human Wishes" or "London," or his "Lives of the Poets"? For the matter of that, if there be a man among you who has read "Rasselas" through and can say that he enjoys it, let him raise his right hand To the moderns the style of Johnston, of which so much praise has been spoken, is stilted and artificial if not repellent His poetry, while not devoid of the fantastic imagery of the day, is a servile imitation of the classics His plays were rejected by the contemporary theatergoers and his dictionary is peppered with his prejudices

Like a great many authors, we read about him but not his works The real Johnson is not in anything he wrote, however, but in Boswell's Life In that biography, the greatest ever written, we find the man we want to know. It is there we learn who he was, what he said and what he thought, and how he influenced his contemporaries and those who came after them It is there we find him sitting as the literary arbiter of his time rolling out his ponderous judgments upon men and affairs browbeating Garrick and Goldsmith Reynolds and Piozzi, insulting Boswell and guzzling with frightful noise and facial contortions innumerable cups of tea

His knowledge has been pronounced to be all embracing yet even the proverbial school boy of today can catch him tripping every now and again his judgment was biased by petty prejudices he was a Tory, dearly loving a lord yet who can forget his rebuke to Chesterfield in remembrance of the affront about the dictionary? Who can forget the helping hand he lent to Goldsmith in his distress his kindness to younger brothers in letters his hatred of shams and pretense? If he was ungrateful to Mrs Thrale because she married without his consent, he got over his household of queer dependents whom he never deserted, or his loyalty to Savage, his companion in days of poverty.

It is to Johnson's credit that he made English conversation a fine art, for it was in his club that English speech first dealt with things above fox hunting and the gaming table. But of all this how much would we know were it not for the despised Boswell He has been held up to ridicule for more than a century for the undignified methods he used to get his material yet his work stands today the most living of all biographies and without it Johnson would be to us nothing more than a name

AN ASTRAL MESSAGE.

To the Editor of The Gazette, Colorado Springs, Colorado, on Earth

Please express through the columns of your paper, our heartfelt thanks to Cook and Peary for the divided rest that will now be ours.

FRANCIS BACON.
WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE.

The Daily Chit-Chat

He leaned at night on his basswood club, and weary and worn was he; "I just have slaughtered my millionth dub, with my trusty snickersnee. When I was younger and full of vim, I followed my task with zest; but now I'm old and my eyes are dim, and my body longs for rest. I thought, when young, if I worked as hard as a span of army mules, there would come in season the due reward—the world would run out of fools. I've slain the fellow who rode a goat at a social jamboree; I got the Aleck who rocked the boat, and I smote him three times three. I canned the chap with the empty gun, the girl with the coal oil can; the gaudy rounder who blew his mon', I butchered, as man to man. No soul can say that I've shirked my task, or loitered an hour away; but the little rest that I fain would ask, seems far from my heart today. For the fools are thick as the blooming fleas on a bob-tailed yellow pup; and as I watch 'em my spirits freeze, and my vitals wither up' The Tariff Bill is a thing that's done, and ought to be laid away, but the fools still stand in the blazing sun, and argue it all the day!

WALT MASON.

Copyright 1909, by George Matthew Adams.

The Daily Chit-Chat

"No-o, he didn't exactly hurt me," said the lady, who had spent the afternoon in the dentist's chair, when we asked if it had been a pleasant afternoon, "but I was so afraid he was going to every minute that it was just about as hard to bear."

That's bad enough, but I've known people who were even worse than that—who suffered in anticipation a morning or a whole day before their dentist's appointment.

How many of us take a dentist's chair attitude towards life!

It's not today's troubles that we suffer the most from It's the troubles that may come tomorrow.

It's not today's task that's beyond us. We just do that. It's the task of tomorrow that seems utterly impossible.

Did you ever read the fairy story about the betrothed girl who went down cellar to draw a jug of wine for her betrothed and the rest of the company to make merry with?

While she was waiting for the jug to fill she noticed upon the wall above her a crossbar which the mason, by an oversight, had forgotten to remove.

At once she bethought her that if she should marry her betrothed and have children, very likely some day when one of them came down stairs to draw some wine, that crossbar would work loose and fall and kill him.

And in a short time she was weeping heart-brokenly over that terrible misfortune.

Ridiculous, you say.

But aren't some of your misfortunes just a wee bit similar?

"IF I get sick," "IF I lose my position," "IF the girl gives notice," "IF Elsie doesn't pass at school," "IF the dressmaker ruins my new dress" how long since you've distressed yourself with one of these or some similar wail?

Strike out all of your troubles that are built on "IFS" and see if you don't reduce the sum total by half.

Did you ever hear what Edward Everett Hale said about worrying?

"Never bear more than one kind of trouble at once," he advised a young friend, and added, "Some people bear all three kinds all they have had, all they have now, and all they expect to have"

The men and women who accomplish the most without breaking down are those who are able when their day's work is done to put it completely from them, to refuse to let either the recollection of today's or the fear of tomorrow's cares intrude upon their hours of rest.

In a beautiful home where I am sometimes a guest this wise verse hangs above my head.

It's addressed to guests, but it is quite as good for stay-at-homes. It is applied to the hours of sleep, but it's quite as good for those of leisure.

"Sleep sweetly within this quiet abode
My guest, whoe'er thou art.
And let no mournful yesterdays
Disturb thy peaceful heart.
Nor let tomorrow fright thy breast
With dreams of coming ill,
Thy Maker is thy changeless Friend,
His love surrounds thee still."

THE GADO-I-WAS

THE GARDEN OF THE GODDESSES

The Garden of the Gods, hard by,
Stands stern, unique and fine;
But there's another garden high,
(Ah, would that it were mine.)

Which dwarfs the Garden of the Gods
For grandeur and for grace,
Of spaciousness o'er crags and sods,
A lonely, lovely place.

And one who sees it, sighs, and says
"Ah, would that it were mine,—
This Garden of the Goddesses,

Take thou that garden for thine own,
With curious cliff and tower;
But let me choose this garden, lone;
Happy in summer hour.

If I may call its beauties mine;—
Its lifted, rifted plots
Of earth above the timber line,
Blue with forget-me-nots!

BIRD OF THE SUMMIT

Midst rocks upon the mountain crown,
In modest garb of mottled brown,
Where cloud-fleets white sail up and down,

The pipit prates.

Anon in haste from ledge to ledge,
Peering a-quiver o'er the edge,
Where flowrets peep from rocky wedge,
The pipit prates.

Athwart the sky in silence far,
Soaring in spirals toward a star,
Where naught save cloud may vision mar,
The pipit passes.

In rapture-song through wild ascent,
Welling sad chords, within, long-pent,
Till all the air seems melody-rent,
The pipit passes.

WHAT IS MONEY AND "LEGAL TENDER"?

From Harper's Weekly.

On the authority of Seneca, a curious account is given of a period when leather, appropriately stamped to give it a certain legal character, was the only current money. At a comparatively recent date in the annals of Europe, Frederick the Second, who died in 1250 at the siege of Milan, paid his troops with leather money. Nearly the same circumstances occurred in England during the great wars of the barons. In the course of 1350 King John, for the ransom of his royal person, promised to pay to Edward the Third of England three millions of gold crowns In order to fill this obligation, John was reduced to the mortifying necessity of paying the expenses of the palace in leather money, in the center of each piece there being a little bright point of silver.

In that reign is found the origin of the burlesque honor of conferring "a leather medal," King John having used that when he wished to confer honor upon some nobleman.

Carl Maria von Weber, born December 19, 1786, at Eutin, Oldenburg, died, June 5, 1826, at London.
Synopsis: Softly sounding through the surrounding silence we hear the long-drawn notes of Oberon's horn, the potent spell by which all the magical enchantments in the opera are conjured up. Elfin forms flit gracefully through the foliage. The fairy dance ends in a gentle sigh of love. Here we meet with one of von Weber's most charming and original orchestral devices This tender love melody is harmonized in three parts Nothing could be simpler, and yet the effect is utterly without parallel in orchestration. Then comes a sudden crash of the whole band—the most sudden, the least expected, the loudest sounding crash in all band music. It is famous everywhere; it has probably given rise to more comic incident, in thus bursting upon the unprepared ears of the audience, than any other single passage in all band music And, curiously enough, it never loses its magic; every time you hear it, it sounds louder and more tremendous than the last The ensuing allegro con fuoco begins with a very pleasing rapid figure, delightfully fresh and spirited. The second theme of this allegro is the melody of Sir Huon's love song. The brilliant conclusion theme is taken from the final stretto of Rezia's grand scene, "Ocean! thou mighty monster."
INTERMISSION.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS M'CUTCHEON CASE

Considerable mystery surrounds the case of J. S. McCutcheon, who was shot in the cheek at the Mercer inn 512 East Pikes Peak avenue at an early hour yesterday morning

McCutcheon is considered out of danger He refuses, however, to discuss the matter, and although the police have been searching for the assailant, they are greatly handicapped because of the lack of information. The refusal of McCutcheon to talk seems to warrant the belief that he knows who assaulted him, as well as the reason for the assault. It has been asserted that there was a woman in the case, but the detectives are noncommittal.

TOO FAT TO DROWN.

Londoner, in Disgust, Gives Up Attempts at Suicide.

From the Kansas City Journal.

LONDON—A traveler, who was sentenced to three months hard labor at the West Ham police court a few days ago for embezzlement, is in the fortunate position of being unable to drown himself.

It was stated that after his defalcations had been discovered he made up his mind to take his life, and wrote a letter to his wife, stating that he had gone to commit suicide He then went to Wanstead park and threw himself into the deepest part of a lake.

To his surprise he did not sink, every time he thrust himself under the water he came to the top again like a cork At length, in disgust, he swam ashore and walked home

"He was too fat to sink," a policeman explained to the magistrate.

During the last 17 years American coal mines have killed 23,840 men, made at least 10,000 widows and upward of 17,000 orphans.

CITY HAS NO TITLE TO ENTIRE BLOCK

PART OF SPRUCE STREET WAS NEVER PLATTED.

May Be Condemned—Council Transacts Much Routine Business Regarding Streets and Property.

City Attorney C. L. McKesson yesterday notified the City Council that this city has no title to the land on Spruce street, in the 300 block, notwithstanding that the land has been used as a street for many years. The city attorney recommended that the matter be taken up with the Academy of Fraternal Sciences, of Philadelphia, which association is presumed to be the owner of the strip, to learn whether it is willing to deed the land to the city for street purposes. In case it is not willing, Attorney McKesson advises that the city condemn the amount of land necessary for street purposes. Mayor Avery suggested that the attorney send a map of that portion of the city to the owner of the property, presenting the facts in the case, and ask if the association will voluntarily deed the land to the city.

A communication was presented by Mrs. Gaines, who offered to pay $35 toward a huckster's license for Alvin Stone, providing the city will donate the remaining amount, $35. The matter was referred to the Mayor and city clerk.

The Colorado Realty and Investment company asked that the sewer be extended from St. Vrain street to West Willamette avenue, between Cooper and Walnut streets, and offering to advance the necessary money for the completion of the same, in case no money is available. The city attorney was asked for an opinion as to legality of the proceeding, and he reported that it can not be done legally. The request was therefore denied.

Emma H. Huston of Valsenola, Colo., presented a communication, asking 30 days extension of time for the installation of a sidewalk in front of her property at 722 North Spruce street. The matter was referred to the committee on streets.

The Postal Savings Bank association of the United States asked that the Council place itself on record in favor of the postal savings bank system. No action was taken.

J. H. Williams complained that the ... is obstructing South Nevada avenue where the postoffice is being erected. The matter was referred for adjustment to Councilman Lawton.

F. A. Dow of the Green Mountain Falls Realty company, presented a communication complaining that the city water main in Manitou has been laid so near to the front lot line of block 6, east Iron Springs addition, to Manitou, that several iron stakes marking the division lines have been removed and destroyed. Referred to the city water department.

Councilman Himebaugh, as chairman of the finance committee, said that he wished to enter a protest against the police magistrate drawing a salary of $125 a month, instead of $65 a month, which the city had intended to pay. He said that if the magistrate accepts the extra amount of money he will owe the city the difference, unless the city attorney advises him that he is entitled to it.

Councilman Frost moved that the recommendation of Mayor Avery that the city offices be kept open Saturday afternoons be adopted. No action was taken, it being the sense of the Council that an ordinance is necessary for the legal adoption of the suggestion.

D. A. Dibb presented a petition, asking that the Council extend the term of his auctioneer's license from September 14 to December 31, 1909, pleading that business has not been good. Referred to the Mayor, city attorney and clerk.

An application for a junk collector's license by A. Chayuten, was referred to Councilman Frost.

A bill of $5.50 for a numerical telephone directory, was presented by E. H. Joslin. Referred to the committee on finance.

A request of the Colorado Springs Electric company for a permit to erect electric signs at 107 East Bijou street, 112 East Huerfano street, and 118 North Tejon street, was referred to the city engineer.

Mayor Avery reported that in the rear of 424 Cooper avenue is a large hole in the ground which is dangerous to traffic. Referred to Commissioner Lawton.

Mrs. M. J. Tobias of 106 South Wahsatch avenue, complained that an ash pit at 320 East Huerfano street is so close to her house that there is imminent danger of fire. She asked that the ash pit be removed. Referred to Commissioner Lawton.

A petition was presented by the Tourist Hackdrivers association, asking that hotel runners be prevented from soliciting business at the depots. It is asserted that the runners greatly annoy travelers. The matter was referred to the committee of the whole.

Every forenoon from 10 to 11 o'clock Mrs. Taliaferro will be at Tren Hale's office, Perkins hall, to register students in vocal and instrumental music.

NOTICE TO HUNTERS.

MEETING OF ESPERANTO SOCIETY IS POSTPONED

The meeting of the Colorado Springs Esperanto society, which was to be held today at the terminus of the Cheyenne canon car line, has been postponed to next Saturday at the same place. This being the last meeting before the formation of classes, it is desirable that all members be present.

RECEPTION NEXT MONDAY

Farewell to Be Given the Rev. C. B. Wilcox by Members and Friends of Church.

Members of the First M. E. church and their friends will give a farewell reception to the retiring pastor, Dr. C. B. Wilcox, next Monday evening. Bishop J. F. Barry, who presided over the Pueblo conference, will speak. Other speakers will be: The Rev. J. H. Franklin, pastor of the First Baptist church, in behalf of the ministers of the city, and Judge W. S. Morris, in behalf of the official board. Mrs. C. A. Logan, Miss Eleanor Painter and Wilhelm Schmidt will give musical numbers.

The official board of the church met Thursday night and appointed standing committees. According to reports read, the church raised $7,500 for current expenses during the last year, besides several thousands of dollars for missionary and benevolent enterprises.

TO BUILD ON OWN LAND

Government Forestry Service Will Not Establish Experimental Station on City Ground.

The United States forestry service, which intended establishing an experimental station on land owned by this city near Lake Moraine, yesterday notified the City Council that although the service greatly appreciates the offer of the city, it has decided to select another location because of the restrictions in regard to the water supply.

The new station will be located on Rock creek, near the Halfway House, below the city's intakes. The tract covers about 40 acres. Joseph Strong, caretaker at Lake Moraine, has been engaged to supervise the construction of the government buildings, and has given up his city position.

DRUGGISTS AGAIN FIGHT THE LOCAL OPTION LAW

Attorneys for the druggists charged with the illegal sale of liquor, will attempt to have the cases dismissed, on the ground that the charter supersedes the state law. They yesterday asked leave to enter such a motion in the district court. This motion was overruled in several liquor cases recently.

The motions will be heard on Monday afternoon. Assistant District Attorney Purcell declares that violations of the law are as numerous at this time as they were a month ago.

"We shall make complaints as long as the law is violated," said he. The cases will probably be tried next Tuesday.

What the Press Agents Say

MAJESTIC.

That the current week's bill at the Majestic is one that is well calculated to please even the most critical followers of vaudeville, is evidenced by the immense audiences which have been in attendance, both at the afternoon and evening performances.

The excellence and prominence of the acts will stand conspicuous in the long list of worthy productions for which the house is justly famous. If to some, music seemed to unnecessarily predominate, still to the vast majority it appealed favorably, as the generous patronage attested. Every one of the performers leaves here to take up under contract, some of the big eastern circuits. Gilihan and Murray, the black face comedians, go direct to New York playing Hammerstein's, repeating there within six months.

Eva Mudge, the star attraction and headliner, who has recently returned from a tour of the old continent, is under contract to open Monday next on Orpheum time, playing that house in Denver almost immediately after having appeared in the same city at the Majestic.

Christopher, the magician, leaves for the south on interstate contracts. Zena Keife, the dainty and refined little favorite, also leaves tonight, making three intermediate stops and then appears at the Chicago Haymarket, and continues under contract on the United circuit.

The "Telegraph Four" open in Wichita, Kan., Monday next, playing Orpheum time continuously into New York city. These talented people give three more entertainments at the Majestic today.

Matinee at 3 p. m., and two night performances.

SPOONER-WALLOCK ENGAGEMENT CLOSES TODAY

With the two performances this afternoon and evening of Kate Claxton's most famous success as arranged by John Oxenford, "The Two Orphans," the local engagement of the Spooner-Wallock company comes to a close. A record of 11 weeks at the Opera House with but a single break is one to be proud of. The company begins its southern and western tour next week and will not return here until next summer unless negotiations now pending go through for its return here during the Christmas holidays.

During the 11 weeks' stay in this city a city supposed to be a one-night stand only, the Spooner-Wallock company has built up a following as strong as it is steady. This has been done by the high standard the company has maintained throughout the entire engagement by giving patrons only the best for the cheapest prices imaginable. During the 11 weeks more than 25 different plays have been produced and more than 65 performances in all were given. Of these 25 plays not more than three or four could be classed as melodramas. Such well-known and high class plays as "Camille," "Carmen," "Nell Gwynn," "The Resurrection," "The Devil," "Sweet Dallas of Texas," "Caste," and others of the same calibre were given for the ridiculous price of 10, 20 and 30 cents. And these plays were given productions that would do credit to any house or company. High class vaudeville such as is never seen outside of the best theaters in the large cities, was offered between the acts.

The performances tonight which close this most delightful season, will be given at the same low prices as have prevailed during the entire summer.

"THE ALASKAN" BEATING DENVER RECORDS

"The Alaskan," a musical comedy in a new dress, thanks to Richard E. Carroll and Gus Weinburg, who, by the way, have prominent parts, will be the strong attraction at the Opera House, next Monday and Tuesday evenings.

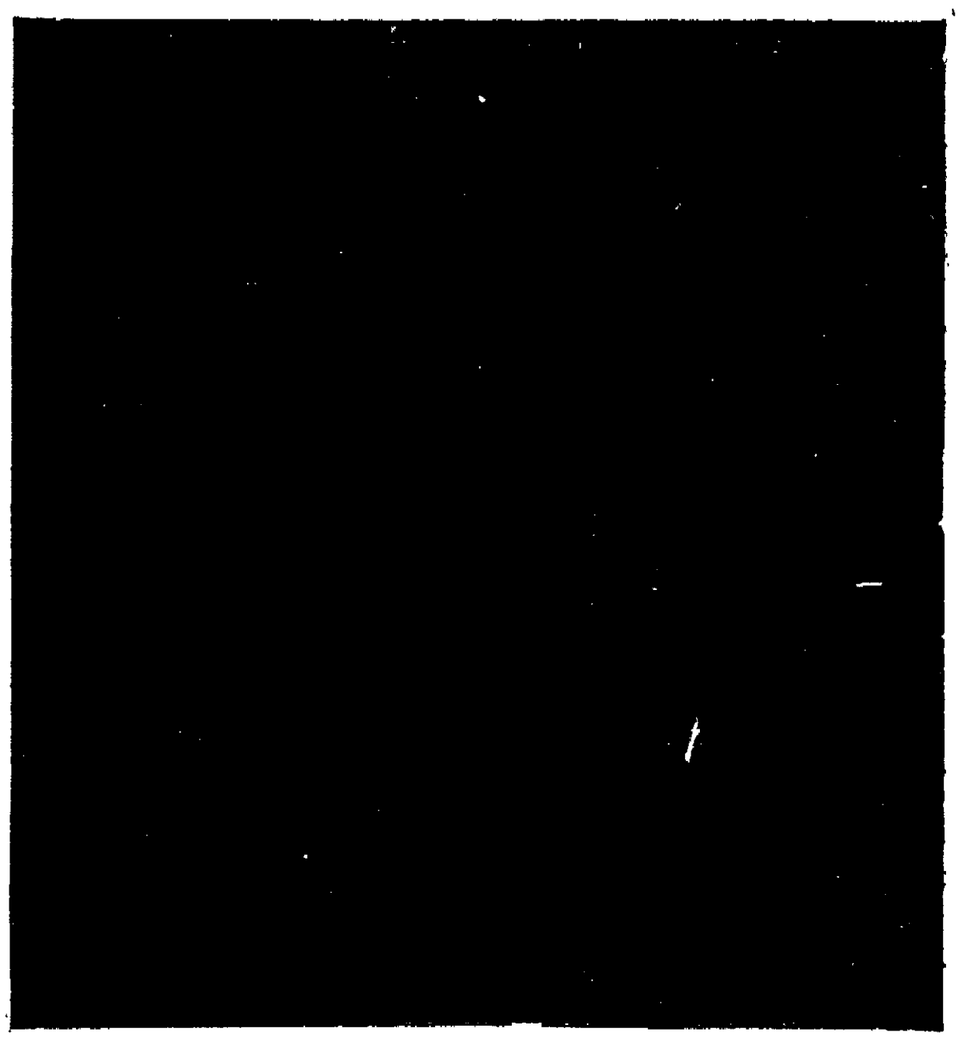

The book has been slightly altered, to better it, the dialogue brightened up and dancing numbers all gone over and several new ones introduced, many catchy, lilting, whistleable songs interpolated, while all the original hits have been retained. The costuming, re-arranging and a general complete renovation will be noted. Chicago was captured unanimously by the new "Alaskan," where it ran for five months, and this city may be counted very lucky to have a peep at what Chicago claims is "the bulliest musical comedy" seen in years.

For the present week "The Alaskan" is appearing in Denver, and is playing to the largest houses of the season. The management of the Denver house says that the business will in actual money taken in at the box office eclipse any other week's business in the past several years.

Esquimo girls, Hi Hi girls, Snow girls, Show girls, Dancing girls, Alaskan girls and the prettiest singing chorus of "Girly Girls" will come to town next week with "The Alaskan." Gus Weinburg and Richard F. Carroll, two of the cleverest musical comedy comedians, head the large company.

Seats are now selling for both performances. Prices are 50 cents to $1.50 and good seats are still left.

"Can be depended upon" is an expression we all like to hear, and when it is used in connection with Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it means that it never fails to cure diarrhoea, dysentery or bowel complaints. It is pleasant to take and equally valuable for children and adults. Sold by all dealers.

STATE TENNIS CHAMPION PROVES AGAIN HIS RIGHT TO THE TITLE

Wins From Bowen in Hard-Fought Five-Set Match on Country Club Courts—Dubach Beats Hutchison in Consolations.

.. you Don!

State Champion Don C. Harker yesterday afternoon proved his right to the title of king of the Colorado tennis players by defeating A B Bowen a well-known Denver crack who won the recent state tennis tourney in Denver. The score yesterday was 4-6 0-6, 6-1 6-3 7-5.

The champ worked harder to win the singles challenge cup offered by the Cheyenne Mountain Country club than he has worked all summer and victory finally repaid him for his efforts. The match was sensational throughout and for a time it seemed that Bowen would surely vanquish the champ. Harker rallied, however, and, after having lost the first two sets, took three straight, and won the singles cup and the right to have his name engraved on the $100 challenge cup. Bowen was awarded the runnerup cup.

Dubach defeated Hutchison and won the consolation singles cup after a hard struggle, the scores being 7-5, 1-6, 7-5, 10-8. Hutchison played the game of his life, covering more court than is ordinarily covered by a doubles team. His lobbing was perfect, and his service was effective. Dubach, who has much the better of Hutchison in experience, was slow on his feet, owing to an injury to his leg some time ago. The Hutchison-Dubach match divided interest with the Harker-Bowen contest.

Following is the summary of the match between Harker and Bowen:

Knocked out—By Harker, 44; Bowen, 48. Netted—By Harker 33 Bowen, 40. Aces made—By Harker, 17; Bowen, 23. Passes—By Harker, 23; Bowen, 19. Double faults—By Harker, 3; Bowen, 2. Smashes—By Harker, 4; Bowen, 2.

A strong wind blowing throughout the game made lobbing from back court almost an impossibility. It also prevented accurate placing, and was responsible for the majority of the double faults. Bowen was effective at the net for a time in the early part of the match, but toward the close Harker began to pass him. Harker picked up steadily after the second set. Bowen was brilliant in the final set. With the games 4-1 in Harker's favor, Bowen rallied and took three straight. In the last game, Bowen started off with a double fault. He knocked Harker's return out of the court, netted the next ball, and knocked the final ball out.

A big gallery witnessed both matches.

RAIN STOPS TENNIS.

PHILADELPHIA. Sept. 10.—The contest that was to be played today between the English and American lawn tennis teams at the Germantown Cricket club to decide whether America or England shall challenge Australia, for the Dwight F Davis cup, was postponed until tomorrow on account of rain. Today's intercollegiate tennis matches at the Merion Cricket club at Haverford also were postponed.

CLASSY BALL GAME IS SCHEDULED HERE TOMORROW

Tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, at Zoo park, the heavy-hitting Zoo team meets the Pride of the Rockies, Pueblo's ... professional nine, in what will probably be the last game of the season here. The proceeds from the game will be distributed among the Zoo players.

That the game will be a hummer is evidenced by the fact that the Pueblo battery is composed of Eberling and Mahoney. Eberling has been something of a puzzle to the locals in his previous appearances here this season. Eberling is one of the best backstops in the state, outside of professional ranks. The Zoos will present their usual strong lineup. Zeller will start the game from the rubber, with Hastings in reserve. Dixon will be behind the bat. The Zoos are planning to play a series of games out of town next week.

MINISTERS LOSE STAR

Special to The Gazette.

DENVER, Sept. 10.—Denver university lost one of her best football men this fall in the person of O. H. Hutsell. Hutsell last season played a smashing game at end, and was mentioned on the All-Colorado team. He is a fast man on his feet, a vicious tackler, and a sure handler of punts. At end he was responsible for spilling interference last year and getting to his man. His loss to the team will be keenly felt on the gridiron.

The former Denver university star will assist in coaching Sacred Heart of this city, under Doc Howe, head coach. Hutsell learned his football knowledge at Notre Dame, Ind., under Tom Barry of Brown university, one of the fastest and shiftiest halfbacks who ever donned football clothes. Barry was a star man at Brown for four years, and coached at Notre Dame after leaving college.

The various state teams will soon be whipping themselves into shape. The wearers of the silver and gold answer the call today, and will report to Coach Folsom on Gamble field this afternoon. With many of their best men returning, the university men feel confident that they will fetch up all right ere the season closes.

They have some good material incoming this year, and several veteran players remain to assemble under the leadership of Captain Bull Sterritt. At the ... best active practice has begun on the field, which has partially dried out, while a bunch of men has been out at Denver university since returning from preliminary training at Pine Crest.

RACE RESULTS.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 10.—The results in the all-age stake in the Manitoba field trials at Arnaud, were announced today. H. E. Edwards of Cleveland, won the first and third, with the Pride of Whitestone and Miss Queenie, both handled by John Dexter, a new man on the grounds. Second place went to Cawley's Pride, one of the Babcocks string, which was also handled by a beginner, John Hunt, a Mississippi boy.

EGAN AND GARDNER IN GOLF FINALS TODAY

WHEATON, Ill, Sept 10—Another day of close golf saw the elimination of Western Champion Charles Evans, Jr., and Mason Phelps, the Midlothian youth, in the struggle for the national amateur golf championship. Tomorrow H. Chandler Egan of Exmoor, and Robert Gardner of Hinsdale, will meet in the finals to decide the championship

Egan disposed of Evans after a struggle that ended spectacularly at the 38th hole, the Edgewater youngster topping his drive into the bunker, the only really bad drive he made in his long uphill struggle.

The Gardner-Phelps match also went to the home green, but Gardner's advantage was one hole better, as he was 1 up, playing for the last hole, and cinched the match by a perfect four, making him two up at the finish.

Evans, who was apparently hopelessly outclassed in the morning play, made one of the gamest uphill struggles in the afternoon ever seen in a national tournament. Three times he squared the match, the first time at the 23rd hole, again at the 27th, and again at the 33rd.

CATCHER KLING MAY BE SUSPENDED 3 YEARS

CINCINNATI, Sept. 10. John Kling, hold-out catcher of the Chicago National league club, may be suspended from organized baseball for three years as a result of playing with the Kansas City team of semi-professionals against the Logan Squares of Chicago team

Grounds of complaint are due to the fact that several players on the Logan Square team are said to be ineligible.

August Herrmann, chairman of the National Baseball Commission, stated today that if Kling had played with the Kansas City team his suspension for three years was inevitable.

DRAWING TO A CLOSE

They have only a very few weeks left to play,
A very few games they will lose or will win;
Then silenced will be the glad ... roundelay
Of horsehide and bat and the ... wild din:
The shrill winds of autumn will soon be cut loose,
An the beautiful snow, that has no place to go,
Will blanket the lot, and the honking goose
Will wing through the gray skies and fill me with woe.

Long months then will pass are the spring practice trip,
Long days of deep anguish and nights without ...;
No more will the umpire his "batteries" clip,
And flood all the earth with his bawled melodies.
No more will the popcorn and peanut gent pass;
The crowds at the ticker will not congregate,
No more will those idols disport on the grass,
And the fans, for the nonce, will be left to their fate.

'Twill soon be a world full of trouble and care,
Deserted the bleachers, the grandstand and all,
With no double-header to which we can fare
Little wot we though ... crumble and fall:
Come on, dreary winter, and bring on your snows,
We'll brave out your chill winds with hary a tear;
Until the spring blossoms we'll brood o'er our woes—
We don't care what happens when they are not here

NEW PLANT INSTALLED ON HALF MOON CLAIM

Lessees Will Operate Gold Hill Property Which Once Yielded Fortune.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Sept 10—A steam hoist has been installed at the lower shaft on the Half-Moon mine on Gold hill by the John Sharpe Machine company, for the Half Moon Leasing company, a corporation recently organized by local mining men with eastern connections. An air line has also been laid from the shaft to the Anchoria-Leland, and power for the machine drills will be furnished from the powerful compressor, now being operated by the Anchoria-Leland lessee, Frank J. Petrie.

The lower shaft on the Half Moon has lain idle for several years past and was found to be inaccessable by reason of ice and broken timbers. Access was gained to the mine workings through the Geneva shaft adjoining, and careful prospecting disclosed ore of shipping grade. The shaft was accordingly cleaned out and retimbered and the shaft house rebuilt and equipped. A drift is now being carried out on the vein and the daily assay tests would indicate that a rich ore shoot lies not far distant. Ore bins have been constructed and a trial shipment was loaded out from the mine yesterday.

The Half Moon is owned by the Matoa Gold Mining company, a corporation, whose stock is held almost in its entirety by the Stratton estate, from whom the lease was secured. The Half-Moon mine is accredited with a total gross production approximating $750,000. This output was practically all made from the upper shaft on the Half Moon, when operated under lease by Carl Johnson and associates. Johnson at the present time is leasing on the Maggie mine on Raven hill with excellent chances of duplicating his former success.

LARGE BODY OF MILLING GRADE IN GOLD PASS

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Sept. 10—A shipment of milling grade ore was loaded out by team Thursday from the ore bins at the mouth of the Chicago and Cripple Creek tunnel in Poverty gulch, from the Martin lease on block 108 of the Stratton estate. The block in question covers portions of the Gold Pass, City of Paris and Harlan H lode mining claims on the western slope of Globe hill, and is operated through the Chicago and Cripple Creek tunnel. The lessee has opened up a large body of milling grade ore on the Gold Pass dike and is getting ready for heavy production.

Colorado Springs Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Colorado Springs given below you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

Charles C. Ferry, 1111 Washington Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly a splendid kidney medicine. In December, 1906, I gave a statement for publication touching on their merit and now I gladly confirm every word I then said in their praise. I was troubled almost constantly for four or five months by backache and the least exertion caused me to feel tired. A steady dull ache across my loins caused me great misery and I did not know what to do to get relief. Being told that I had kidney complaint I was induced to try Doan's Kidney Pills. After using them a few days my back ceased to ache and the tired languid feeling disappeared. As I have had no return of the trouble since I feel justified in giving Doan's Kidney Pills my recommendment."

HARRIMAN STOCKS SHOW BIG GAINS

DAY OF UNUSUAL ACTIVITY ON WALL STREET

End of Weeks of Uncertainty Followed by Sudden and Pronounced Return of Confidence.

NEW YORK, Sept 10—Wall Street's response today to E. H. Harriman's death was a buoyantly strong stock market in which securities made sensational gains and held them to the end. The volume of business was enormous—well over 1,500,000 shares and to this vast amount the better known Harriman stocks, Union Pacific common and Southern Pacific, alone contributed more than one-third while other properties in which the late magnate was more remotely interested added much more to the total.

The day resulted in a complete rout of the short interests. Even before the opening here it was evident from the tone of American securities in London that the strongest support was forthcoming in initial prices in New York.

The Union Pacific and Southern Pacific trading posts were the center of all attraction, and the enormous buying of both stocks soon caused a hurried scramble to cover. There was a brief recession from opening prices but before the end of the first hour semiofficial announcement was made that other leading interests "were acting in unison," and this gave the market another uplift to a level above the opening prices.

By this time the bears were in a state of utter demoralization and there was talk of a number of private settlements having been made.

While the Harriman stocks were soaring, Wall Street was teeming with rumors, some of which hinted at a contest for control of the Union Pacific. None took these seriously but much more attention was paid to persistent rumors that J. P. Morgan and Company were buying heavily of Union Pacific shares and that arrangements for taking a member of the Morgan firm into the Union Pacific executive committee were already completed. None of these stories was denied or confirmed.

The market's rapid pace was maintained to the end and at the close the extent of the short covering was estimated all the way from 200,000 to 500,000 shares. There is little doubt, however, that no small part of the day's operations represented buying of an investment character.

No official statement was issued by Harriman officials relative to the future policy of those properties, but banking interests in touch with the situation announced that Mr. Harriman's plans for constructing and development would go steadily forward.

A noteworthy event of the day was a new high record for United States Steel common, which touched 80 3-8, 1-8 above its best previous figure.

The more important gains follow: Union Pacific, 12 1-2; Union Pacific, preferred, 7, Southern Pacific, 5; St. Paul, 3 1-4; Reading, 5; New York Central, 3 1-2, Louisville and Nashville, Atchison, Missouri Pacific, United States Steel common, Western Union and International Pump, 3, or more with numerous advances ranging from 1 to 2 1-2 points.

BRISK DEMAND GIVES WHEAT MARKET TONE

General Improvement in Grain Quotations at Chicago and Trading Active.

CHICAGO, Sept 10—Firm cables and a brisk demand for cash wheat here by millers imparted decided strength to the wheat market here today. Final quotations showed net gains of 1 1-8 to 1 3-4@7-8. Coarse grains and provisions also closed firm. The wheat market opened firm owing to an advance of 5-8 to 1 pence in the price of wheat at Liverpool, but soon weakened on liberal realising. For a time sentiment was a trifle bearish, but toward the noon hour a firmer feeling developed and as trading progressed prices continued to advance.

A feature of trading was the continued congestion of the September delivery and a consequent range in the price of that option. Shorts were active bidders at various times throughout the day. An excellent milling demand for cash wheat here and in the northwest prompted considerable buying and a report that 10 loads of Durum wheat had been "worked" for export at Duluth also brought out some demand. Weather conditions in the northwest were favorable for threshing and the movement of the new grain was again on a liberal scale. The market closed strong with December at 97 3-4.

Moderate weakness was manifested in the corn market early in the day, but during the last half of the session a firm tone developed. The close was strong at almost the top, final quotations showing gains of 1-8 to 1-4@5-8.

Oats were dull the greater part of the day. The market closed firm with prices 3-8 to 5-8 up.

Provisions were rather weak at the start, but became quite firm late in the day. Prices at the close were 2 1-2 to 27 1-2 higher.
